Mr. Donner

- MAP testing next week (4/13) - any students who have IEP’s will also be participating but w/fewer questions.
  - PARCC testing will start again 4/27 - 4/30. 2 of the tests are shorter.
  - There is no “opt out” for PARCC testing. This is what the state looks at to help schools obtain funding. The same people who wrote the ACT tests helped come up with the PARCC testing. Looking into the future - it will eventually take over for the ACT college prep test. Parents can not request an “opt out”. However they can tell their child to just “not take tests” but in the long run when the colleges look at the students PARCC testing scores and they spot a (0) this will require explaining.
